APPEARANCES:

For Respondent: No appearances.

SEYBERT, District Judge:

On December 30, 2010, the Court issued a default judgment as to liability, but reserved judgment on an appropriate damages award. In this regard, the Court requested that Petitioners submit more information on how to properly calculate prejudgment interest. Having received this information, the Court finds that Petitioners are entitled to the following award¹:

1. Delinquent contributions in the amount of $36,526.82;
2. Prejudgment interest in the amount of $7650.30²;
3. Liquidated damages in the amount of $7650.30³;
4. Arbitration attorney's fees in the amount of $800;
5. Arbitration costs in the amount of $800;
6. Additional attorney's fees in the amount of $1,750;
7. Additional costs in the amount of $390.

² The Arbitration Award, issued exactly 365 days ago, called for prejudgment interest of $1,075.47. An additional year's worth of prejudgment interest at the contractual 18% simple rate comes to $6574.83, generating a total interest award of $7650.30.

³ The Arbitration Award called for liquidated damages of $7,520.40, representing 20% of the unpaid contributions. At the time, this was correct. However, the parties contract called for liquidated damages to be paid in "the greater of" either: (a) the contractual interest due on the unpaid contributions; (b) 20% of the delinquent contributions; or (c) $50. See Docket No. 18-1 at § 2. And, as of now, the amount of contractual interest due exceeds 20% of the delinquent contributions.

SO ORDERED.
